Financiers Anxious to Know What May Be Expected Regarding Alaska.

TAFT UNABLE TO TELL

Recommendations Made to Congress Early in Session Produce No Results.

WASHINGTON, April 5 .- President Taft gave a hearing late today on Alaska and the prospects for its development to Guggenheim of Colorado, his brother Daniel Guggenheim, and several experts of the Guggenhelm company. Secretary Fisher was present.

tion of the president, was a listener.

The Guggenheims were anxious to know, it was said, what might be expected in the way of legislation that would allow the development of Alaska's natural resources and in particular the coal. They control the Copper River railroad planned to tap the Bering coal fields. For this road there is now practically no traffic, and the opening of the coal lands would ensure a big tonnage. They were reported interested also in Secretary Fisher's plan to build a government railroad in Alaska. Neither the president nor Secretary Fisher would predict action by congress on pending measures that would ensure the opening of the coal fields, although the president has made many addresses and frequently has suggested to congress the necessity of providing a leasing plan that will allow the fields to be opened.

ing plan that will allow the fields to be opened.

Falcon Josiyn of Fairbanks, Alaska, representing the Alaskan affairs committee of the American Mining congress before the house territories committee today, advocated a bill to authorize the president to build a 1000-mile railroad in Alaska over any route that would best develop the resources of that territory.

The same committee also has a bill providing for a commission to investigate a project for a railroad from Resurrection bay to the Yukon valley and another indorsed by Secretary Fisher to clothe the president with discretion to build such a railroad with the equipment and supplies of the Panama canal work.

The bill advocated by the mining congress calls for a commission headed by an army engineer and would authorize an issue of 3 per cent bonds.

house assassing came to his cabin and begged for food.

Allen came to his door, he said, and Edwards stood guard. Allen said neither had taken food that day. They got none from Smith and took to the mountains. The mountaineer feared to tell the detectives until midnight, and it was morning when a posse took up the trail. Sheriff Haynes of Mount Airy took the bloodhounds, but they refused to scent the trail and the posse went away on Smith's directions.

The posses are posting copies of Governor Mann's proclamation calling upon all citizens to withhold aid from the fugitive outlaws.

SUGAR QUESTION IS BEFORE COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, April 5 .- General Clarence Edwards, chief of the insular burreau of the war department, urged before the aenate finance committee today the removal of the 300,000-ton limit of Philippine sugar which the tariff law now permits to come into this country free of duty.

Any tariff restriction on Philippine sugar, said General Edwards, is a discouragement to the development of sugar planting in the islands. Two members of the Porto Rican commission, sent to protest against the pending free sugar bill, also were heard today.

It was estimated that approximately 7000 people attended the opening session, the rainstorm in all likelihood keeping many away who otherwise would have been there. The body of the auditorium was filled with the exception of under the gallery, while the balcony liself was pretty well occupied all around. In the afternoon the attendance was greater, the big building being almost filled to comfortable seating capacity.

Aside from the solo by Miss Margetts, the musical programme for the morning included the hymns, "Come, Come, Ye Saints" and "An Angel From on High," and the anthem, "Jesus, My Cross Have I Taken."

President Joseph F. Smith opened the conference by greeting the members of the church present, and concluded his address with a benediction for their future welfare.

Living for Cause.

"Personally I have nothing but the cause to live for during the remainder of my life, said President Smith. "I have had much experience in the missionary service, and enjoyed it, and I hope to continue in the ministry to the end of my days. I believe the saints to be engaged in the cause of truth, not of Ruef trial, was granted permission today to take testimony in California on an open commission in his sult for defamation of character against William H. Crocker, the California millionaire.
